

Justin Reese

Current Roles

Code & Supply

Founding Director & CEO, Since March 2014

- Direct decisions to grow company and its surrounding community
- Lead and manage software projects that facilitate internal automation
- Vendor selection and management
- Website development using Ruby on Rails, managed with continuous deployment

Abstractions Conference

Executive Director, Since 2015

- Lead a team of volunteers over the course of a year to execute on every aspect of conference organization
- Sell sponsorship packages to software companies
- Vendor selection and management
- Website development using JavaScript, managed continuous deployment

Builder Code Works

CEO, Since September 2014

- Software development primarily in Ruby on Rails with regular use of React, Angular, and vanilla JavaScript
- Sell software development to local companies
- Manage a team of as many as 8 subcontractors, chosen based on client needs
- Teach courses to enterprise customers on Ruby, Acceptance Testing, and JavaScript

Advisory Roles

- Western Pennsylvania Regional Data Center; Board member since 2015
- Code & Supply Scholarship Fund; President since 2016
- AlphaLab; Mentor to cohorts at one of nation's top business incubators
- GiftID; Technical and business advisement

Previous Roles

Think Thru Math

Senior Software Engineer, 2013–2014

- Software development in Ruby on Rails, Marionette, and Angular
- Involved in hiring decisions

4moms

Software Engineer, 2012–2014

- Software development in Ruby on Rails
- Involved in hiring decisions
- Involved in process decisions

Automated Insights

Software Engineer, 2011–2012

- Software development in Ruby on Rails
- Developed prose content from billions of statistics
- Work featured in the New York Times

Universal SmartComp

Software Engineer, 2009–2011

- Software development in PHP
- Worked with protected health information

United States Steel

Engineering Co-op, 2008–2009

- Software development in COBOL, seriously